POLES WILL PREVENT RULE OF OPPRESSION

Vilna, October 9.—(United News.)—After a meeting here tonight of the Polish cabinet a communique was issued declaring that it had been decided to prevent oppression of Polish people who by peace treaties had been placed under Lithuanian rule.

The form that the "prevention" would take was not stated. It could be either peaceful or warlike, probably peaceful.

It had been indicated earlier that the Polish government would send to Lithuania a sharply-worded note—possibly taking the form of an ultimatum—demanding cessation of the alleged oppression.

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, October 9.—(United News.)—An outbreak of the old enmity between Poland and Lithuania today complicated the European situation just as the great powers were beginning to exert pressure to quiet the Bulgarian-Jugo-Slavian dispute.

Several frontier incidents, not alone serious enough to be reported in newspapers, combined, it was declared in the Lithuanian capital, to cause strained relations.

It is added that Poland is planning to send a sharp note to Lithuania protesting against alleged oppression of Polish people under Lithuanian rule.

France, on behalf of the allies, is understood to be urging Jugo-Slavians to settle peacefully their dispute with Bulgaria, also the result of a series of frontier incidents—in this case culminating with the assassination of a Bulgarian bandit head of General Kovachevich, a distinguished Jugo-Slavian army officer.

It is believed that the British and Italian ministers are exerting similar pressure on the Bulgarian government at Sofia.

A Vienna dispatch reports that bachelor King Boris, of Bulgaria.

London, October 9.—Spain may withdraw from North Africa with Great Britain acting as mediator and some "very satisfactory arrangement" may become possible between Spain and France, according to disclosures made by General Primo de Rivera, the Spanish premier, in today's Sunday Times, in an interview outlining the discussions which the premier recently held with the British secretary of foreign affairs, Sir Austen Chamberlain, on the yacht Dolphin.

General De Rivera declared his meeting with Sir Austen had been "arranged" having "an important character."

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—A $400,000,000 tax reduction program is being submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce to its 1,500 member organizations for a referendum vote to determine its policy during congressional consideration of review legislation.

The program, as worked out by a special committee, calls for reduction of federal estate and war excise taxes. The recommendations submitted in the referendum are:

"That there be immediate reduction and repeal in federal taxes which, if made effective, are estimated to amount to $400,000,000 in the first full year after the changes are made."

"That the rate of corporate income tax applicable to net income of 1927 should not exceed 10 per cent."

"That congress should provide full opportunity for the joint congressional tax committee to perfect proposals for revision of federal laws and their administration."

A supplemental report dealing with technical and detailed proposals looking toward simplification of the federal taxation system and its adjustment to peace-time conditions is being considered by the committee. The total reduction proposed in the referendum, it explains, would amount to not more than $200,000,000 as far as the current fiscal year is concerned.

FRENCH AIRMEN READY FOR HOP

Deudonne Costes and Lieut. Lebriz Expect To Leave Today on South
American Flight.

Paris, October 9.—(AP)—Deudonne Costes and Lieutenant Lebriz, the French aviators, announced tonight that they would start at 8 a. m. tomorrow on their South American flight.

The tanks of the airplane, a Breguet biplane with a Hispano-Suiza motor, with which they had hoped to make the Paris-to-New York crossing, have been filled and other preparations are under way.

The aviators hope to make the flight in four jumps—St. Louis (Senegal) Natal, Rio Janeiro and Buenos Aires. They consider the weather favorable and do not expect to encounter any difficulty, as their plane, "Nungesser," has been well tested by many flights.

PILOT AND TWO PASSENGERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Pilot, Mich., October 9.—(AP)—The pilot and two passengers of a commercial airplane were killed today when the machine crashed from an altitude of 100 feet to a field here and was overturned in flames.

The dead are William "Scotty" Clunie, pilot; Joseph Holzer, employee of a local aviation field, and Carl Ebert, student flier, all of Flint.

According to witnesses, as the plane veered sharply in the wind the motor stopped and the ship spiraled to the ground. The gasoline tank exploded immediately as the plane struck and the three men were burned to death before aid could reach them.

Clunie was an experienced pilot.

Four Women Bring Ruin To Fortunes of Remus

Refining Plant in Arkansas Is Swept by Fire
After Blast Wrecks
Large Plant.

EXPLOSION CAUSE NOT DETERMINED

Thousands Rush to Scene.
Loss Will Reach $100-
000; Ten Stills Are Wrecked.

El Dorado, Ark., October 9.—(AP)—Four men were killed and 21 were injured, eight of them seriously, in an explosion and fire which wrecked a portion of the Lion Oil Refining company's plant here today.

The dead:

Cleora Smith, 37.
Jack Springer, 40.
Ben S. Tidwell.
James T. Scoggins.

Seriously injured:

C. B. Morris, Norton Thibodeau, George Harris, R. L. McKinn, Fred Sessions, L. G. Dutholts and two unidentified negroes.

Hospital attendants said tonight that Morris and Sessions probably were fatally injured. Thirteen other persons were reported by officials of the refining company to have been slightly injured.

Officials of the refining company said they had not determined the exact cause of the explosion but expressed the belief that it was due to a fire in the refining plant.

Two of the 15 huge compression stills in the plant exploded without warning shortly before noon. The blast jarred the city and frightened hundreds of residents into panic.

Thousands rushed to the scene. Flames shot skyward as the contents of the exploded tanks became ignited. Thousands of persons rushed to the scene. The entire fire equipment of the refining plant and the city was called out and after a battle of two hours succeeded in subduing the fire.

The oil burned rapidly and ten of the huge compression stills were either wrecked or severely damaged before the flames were extinguished. Each of the stills contained approximately 700 barrels of crude oil in the process of refining.

H. M. Breidenbach, vice president and general manager of the Lion company's plant, stated tonight that the damage probably would run close to $100,000. He said it would be impossible to make an accurate estimate of the loss for several days. Breidenbach declared that work will begin immediately upon the task of repairing the damaged stills and machinery which will have to be rebuilt. He estimated that a month would be required to put the plant back into operation at normal capacity.

The plant of the Lion Oil company is the largest industrial unit in this section of the state. It was built a few years ago at a cost of approximately $5,000,000.

COOLIDGE TO HOLD GRIP ON FINANCES

Members of Congress
Must Show Local Needs
Are Imperative To Gain
His Approval.

COOLIDGE TO HOLD GRIP ON FINANCES

Washington, October 9.—(AP)—The recent warning from the white house that President Coolidge "tends to hold the purse strings" if the government tightly this winter promises to spell failure to the many local projects brought forward each session by members of congress unless it can be shown that their need is imperative.

From such disclosures as have been made on behalf of Mr. Coolidge, it appears that only the most urgent local and national projects calling upon funds from the treasury will gain executive approval in order at the largest possible amount of money may be available for reduction of the national debt and a possible reduction of taxation.

The major needs of the country such as that incurred by the Mississippi flood and related projects will have a place in the president's budget program but experiments and proposals in general which need government funds will be scrutinized with the greatest care before white house approval is given.

With an estimated surplus in the treasury for next year short of what it has been in recent years and the administration eager to effect a reduction both in the intermediate brackets of the personal income tax and in the corporation tax, Mr. Coolidge is faced with the necessity of watching expenditures closely so that in addition to a tax cut there may be a reduction in the national debt.

The president feels that if members of congress cooperate with him to the extent of watching expenditures carefully, there can be a tax reduction but he is known to desire also a substantial cutting down of the debt.

Widow of Scott Is Happy SUICIDE BETTER FOR HIS CHILDREN, SHE SAYS Husband Escaped Gallows

BY EDWIN L. HECKLER.

Chicago, October 9.—(United Press.)—The woman who saved Russell Scott's life, after he deserted her and his children, admitted today that "perhaps it was better" that he died as he did.

Scott hanged himself in Cook county jail shortly before midnight Saturday, ending a fight of three years to escape the same fate at the hands of the public executioner.

Stood By Husband.

Throughout the ordeal of living from reprieve to reprieve, young Mrs. Scott stood by her husband and three times, when all hope seemed gone, she raised money which made it possible for lawyers to appeal to the courts again.

"I always believed he'd be free some day," the widow said. "Perhaps this was the only way it could be. It was better that he kill himself if he had to die—better for the children anyway."

The children, Dudley, 10, Robert, 8, and Russell, Jr., 6, are in an orphanage in Canada. Their mother has been unable to support them since Scott deserted her after failure of his $10,000,000 project to construct an international bridge at Detroit, Mich.

Had Visited Husband.

Mrs. Scott had visited her husband Saturday afternoon, a few hours before he died.

"He told me he was sick and wanted to see me," she said. "I found him despondent in his cell. He was ill from bronchitis and worried about the sanity hearing coming up this week. He didn't see much hope that we could keep it up longer."

"Maybe that was why he killed himself. Maybe he was insane." Mrs. Scott's latest reprieve came when the Illinois supreme court ordered a rehearing on the question of sanity.

SCIENTISTS SEEKING BRAIN OF SCOTT

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, October 9.—Scientists and six medical schools are in a lively contest to secure the brain of Russell Scott, murderer of Joseph Maurer, 24, who committed suicide last night. They are anxious to discover, if possible, the peculiar twist or deficiency or whatever it was responsible for his weird actions. It is hoped his relatives will permit a thorough examination.

Scott took his life at a time when he appeared to have an excellent chance to escape the shadow of the gallows. He had been sentenced to death three times, reprieved three times, sentenced to an asylum for the criminally insane, declared sane and returned to Cook county to be hanged, and just a few days ago the supreme court of Illinois granted him another sanity hearing set for October 24.

Previously, he had been declared insane, sent to an asylum, and declared recovered and ordered to be hanged.

Mentally Unbalanced.

It was established at the first sanity hearing that Scott had become mentally unbalanced since he was confined in the jail. His attorneys claimed the mental condition was recognized by scientists by other terms but was essentially the "strange" of the underworld.

"Scott was always a 'poser,'" Warren Edward Fogarty of the county jail said today. "He liked to see his name and picture in print. He had an extraordinary passion for the limelight."

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe said he was "satisfied." "He would have hanged anyway," the prosecutor said. "I don't see how they could have avoided it much longer."

The first insanity finding was made after Scott's execution was ordered delayed five hours before the time originally set. He was convicted in June, 1924, of killing Joseph Maurer, 19, a drug clerk. Scott confessed he and his brother, Robert, had been holding up Chicago drug stores for several weeks prior to the killing. He said they entered the store in which Maurer worked downtown and ordered the clerk to hold up his hands. Maurer resisted and while he was struggling with Robert Scott, Russell shot him several times. Scott changed the story later and said Robert fired the fatal shot.

Plea Is Changed.

Scott's plea of guilty was changed to not guilty when Judge William J. Linney started to pronounce the death sentence. Then the long fight to save his life began.

Mrs. Scott's devotion to her husband was constant. She married him when he was wealthy. At one time, he was believed to have a fortune of $2,000,000. They were Canadians and Scott went to Detroit to inaugurate his bridge project. The plan to span the Detroit river drew many investors but the project finally collapsed. All of Scott's personal fortune went with the rest.

The Scott brothers then turned to criminal pursuits in an effort to gain a livelihood for themselves. Russell's wife and their children were forgotten.

At the morgue to which Scott's body was taken, it was said his father had taken charge of the body and would probably take it east for burial. Mrs. Scott was unable financially to order a funeral.

An inquest will be held Monday at which a coroner's jury will find that the Windsor bridge builder died "by his own hand of strangulation." It will be the last record in the thousands of pages of official documents pertaining to Russell Scott.

ATLANTA PREPARED TO GREET AIR HERO

Outside Military academy of Gainesville and other military schools in the state. Telegrams have been received by the committee in charge of arrangements that these schools will attend to participate in the welcome. Ninety uniformed cadets will compose the honorary escort from the Georgia Military college.

Color of the Military.

And while the welcome of Atlanta and Georgia to Colonel Lindbergh is to be a welcome from the civilian population and the civil authorities, many uniforms will blend with the military. The Atlanta police and fire departments, the Old Guard of Atlanta, the United States army from Fort McPherson and the military units from universities, colleges, academies and schools as well as Georgia's national guard will give a military color and a military bearing to the program.

Chief James L. Beavers of the Atlanta police department has assured Governor L. G. Hardman that his department will preserve order at Candler field. Governor Hardman had been asked to call out the national guard to assist in patrolling the field so as to assure perfect protection to Colonel Lindbergh and his plane and to keep the spectators behind the barriers. Both Governor Hardman and Chief Beavers visited the field Sunday and the entire details of preserving order were in the hands of Chief Beavers.

To Soar Over City.

Colonel Lindbergh will soar over the city several times before bringing his plane to a standstill at Candler field at 2 o'clock. He will be preceded by the department of commerce plane, piloted by Lieutenant Philip R. Lowe, and bearing Donald Keyhole, of the Grueson foundation and aide to Colonel Lindbergh, and other officials of the tour.

The official reception party will greet the young aviator upon his arrival. The committee in charge has insisted that the official party be on the field and lined up on the east of the Davison hangar by 1 o'clock sharp. The official party will be preceded by City Fire Chief Cady and a motorcycle escort in the parade. The governor's staff will follow and then the Old Guard, which will have charge of the ceremonies at Pershing Point, will come. The parade front of the parade, East Point, has not been announced until it touches the junction of Whitehall and Forsyth streets, where the procession will be joined by other military organizations representing schools of the state, the Boy Scouts and other organizations.

Mayors Invited.

The parade will be of a great length and in order for the people of Atlanta and visitors to see the noted flier, all should be on the look-out when the giant screen of the fire city is first heard.

Mayor I. N. Ragdale has extended a special invitation to the mayors of the various cities of the state to attend the reception. In addition, B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and George West, president, have been invited to visit the city and the commerce of Georgia to send representations.

Reception committee badges will be given the visiting chamber of commerce members at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. These will entitle them to reservations at Grand field where the reception program will be held.

At 3 o'clock, Colonel Lindbergh will place a wreath on the memorial at Pershing Point. The wreath will be presented by Mrs. Sam D. Jones, president of the War Mothers' Service Star Legion. The Old Guard will participate in the ceremony.

Immediately following, the transatlantic flier will visit the United States Disabled War Veterans' hospital on Peachtree road. He will be accompanied by an honorary escort consisting of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary, in charge of the Georgia department of the legion.

After his introduction, he will make a brief tour of the hospital, paying tribute to the doctors and nurses who have been in the great conflict across the seas.

Biltmore Provides Floor.

From the hospital, Colonel Lindbergh will be conducted to Grand field for the mammoth reception program. Following the program the Biltmore hotel management has tendered the hospitality where he will spend the remaining hours before the banquet to be given at the Ansley hotel.

While at the Biltmore, Colonel Lindbergh will receive no visitors, will give out no interviews and will be permitted to take his designated rest period. The Biltmore management has announced that it has thrown open the entire floor for whatever use the flier may desire and the hotel will cooperate with his aides in every respect to see that he is not disturbed.

The reception committee announced Sunday that the citizens who have received invitations to the formal banquet Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Ansley hotel must notify the committee by Tuesday noon.

Those who do not exercise the privilege of attending are not permitted to transfer their invitations and in order to avoid embarrassment are instructed to carry out this message to the letter.

Henderson Hallman, chairman of the reception committee, will act as master of ceremonies at the banquet. Eugene R. Black, prominent Atlanta, will be toastmaster and will introduce the distinguished visitor. Governor Hardman will give the address of welcome in behalf of the state of Georgia and Mayor I. N. Ragdale will express Atlanta's welcome.

FLYING COLONEL VISITS PENSACOLA.

Pensacola, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—Colonel Charles Lindbergh had a day of recreation and rest here today as the guest of Admiral Frank H. Upham, commandant of the Pensacola air station, making no public appearance.

Colonel Lindbergh arrived here from New Orleans at 10:15 a. m., as a passenger in a naval training plane piloted by First Class Seaman Leandebach, an acquaintance, who is attached to the air station.

During the day, Colonel Lindbergh was conducted on an inspection tour of the naval air station where many naval aviators have received their training, numbering among them Lieutenant William V. Davis, navigator of the Woolco plane, winner of the San Francisco-Honolulu air derby.

Colonel Lindbergh will spend the night here, hoping off at 5:15 a. m. tomorrow for New Orleans to get his plane "Spirit of St. Louis," and fly to Jacksonville, where the "All-Florida" reception will be tendered him Monday.

Paris Chorus Girls Wearing Clothes Again

Paris, October 9.—(AP)—Chorus girls are wearing clothes again in the music halls of Paris.

They are beginning rather gingerly to don what the theaters spent a good many years inducing them to take off for the benefit of the aesthetic eyes of the tired public.

Gorgeous costumes and elaborate settings are replacing many former scenes whose chief attraction was supposed to be scores of more or less undraped young women hanging carelessly from a great chandelier or posing as artistic sculpture on mantelpieces or in modern conceptions of the garden of Eden.

The chorus girls are not expected to take to long skirts all of a sudden. They are still economical but the theater managers predict that eventually the girls will wear even more.

The theaters are returning to the old-reliable methods of trying to dazzle the audience with beautiful scenery and an occasional flash of intelligence in the dialogue. They are also attempting to put a little more stress on the vocal abilities of the chorus.

WAR ON "HOME BREW" DECLARED BY PROHIB.

Minneapolis, Minn., October 9.—(AP)—Andrew Volstead, father of the national prohibition act and now legal adviser to the northwest prohibition unit, has laid the foundation on which federal prohibition agents have opened a war against manufacture of "home brew" for private consumption.

Volstead shaped a legal weapon which dry agents used to raid two Twin Cities malt shops, the source of supply, they say, for material used in private manufacture of "home brew."

If Volstead's interpretation of the law, on which the malt shops were raided, survives a court test, S. B. Ovale, northwest prohibition administrator, said dry agents would attempt to close every malt shop in the northwest.

After an investigation, Volstead announced that in his opinion malt shop proprietors could be arrested under section 18, paragraph two, of the national prohibition act. This paragraph forbids "possession or sale of materials designed for use in manufacturing intoxicating liquor." It provides a penalty of $500.

Volstead further ruled that should a malt shop proprietor be found guilty under this section of the law, he also could be convicted of a conspiracy to violate the dry act, a charge which carries a penalty of two years imprisonment.

Officer Injured.

City Policeman M. P. Warren, of 327 Josephine street, N. E., suffered a possible fracture of a left rib Sunday night as the result of a fall in a bath tub in his home, according to reports at Grand hospital where he was given medical aid. His side was bandaged and he returned to his home.

ARKWRIGHT HITS U. S. OWNERSHIP

New York, October 9.—(Special.)—Alleged attempts to "socialize" the electric light and power industry by turning it over to state and federal government ownership and operation were decried by P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power company, in an address broadcast tonight from radio station WBNY, New York city.

Mr. Arkwright, who is a recognized national leader in the public utility field and first vice president of the National Electric Light association and also the association of Edison Illuminating companies, spoke under the auspices of the Industrial Digest of New York.

Mr. Arkwright's address in part follows:

"The electric light and power industry has its beginning only 45 years ago in a small electric lighting station in the downtown district of New York, with only 59 customers.

"In the short time that has passed this one electric lighting station has grown into hundreds of central stations, electric service companies supplying house to house electric service for lighting, heating and power purposes to 21,000,000 customers in the United States alone. In fact, the United States of America now uses more electricity than all the rest of the world combined. And it's cheaper. Approximately 55 per cent of the population of the United States now live in homes served by electricity.

"The electric light and power industry has been no petted child. Nobody has fed or fondled or favored it. It received no land grants nor contributions of public funds nor loan of government credit. Its development has not been brought about by governments, or states, or municipalities, or socialists, or communists, or collectivists.

"The company has hundreds of thousands—in many cases hundreds of millions of dollars—invested in the community's present, and all of its hopes and ambitions invested in the community's future.

"Do you know that the further development of the electrical industry is menaced? It is proposed to socialize it, to turn it over to state and federal government ownership and operation, to remove from the electrical industry all individual initiative and enterprise.

"It would be bad enough to turn over to state or federal political operation any business enterprise, much less to put into its hands a young, vigorous, growing industry like the electrical industry with so much promise in its future."

FAIR EXHIBITS MOVED FROM LAKEWOOD PARK

The twelfth annual Southeastern fair which closed its gates late Saturday night at Lakewood park has been recorded in the annals of Atlanta's history as one of the greatest ever held in the southern states and Arthur L. Brooke, president, and Oscar Mills, secretary, of the fair are highly elated over the progress made along various educational lines.

Sunday, although a holiday for the majority of Atlantans, was just another working day for the hundreds of workmen on the grounds, for trainmen, agriculturists and others connected with the live stock industry were busy all day and part of the night removing their exhibits and shipping them home.

All of the cattle and swine were loaded into cars early Sunday morning and shipped out of the city. Some of the cattle was taken to Macon, where a state exposition starts Thursday morning. A special train pulled out of the park shortly before noon and a second a few minutes later loaded with the best cattle and swine that is produced in the country.

Practically all of the exhibits in the agriculture building were moved Sunday afternoon, some to be shipped to Macon, and others to be taken to the homes of the owners.

Exhibits in the manufacturers building, the liberal arts building and in the basement of the agricultural building were not moved Sunday but early today a corps of workmen will begin to remove and pack them. Hundreds of persons Sunday watched with interest the movements of the workmen in loading the Zeppelin & Polie carnival which left Atlanta during the night on a special train for Aniston, Ala.

WRIGHT-MIRIAM DECLARE TRUE; CHARGES DROPPED

Madison, Wis., October 9.—(United News.)—Another rose between Frank Lloyd Wright and his former wife, Miriam Noel Wright, apparently has been effected with announcement by Mrs. Wright that she will not continue her attempts to have the famous architect arrested.

She is free from a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails, an accusation based on a letter she wrote Wright concerning his relations with Mme. Olga Ivanovna Miloff. The letter is the mother of Wright's two-year-old child.

When the charge against her was dismissed by a U. S. commissioner, Mrs. Wright announced she would return to Chicago and discontinue her efforts to obtain a warrant for Wright on the ground of adultery.

FRANCE RETIRES 8 BILLION FRANCS

Paris, October 9.—(AP)—Premier Poincare will be able to tell parliament when it convenes that the French treasury has retired eight billion francs of short-term bonds since January 1 this year, or eleven billions within 12 months, the greater part within the last few weeks.

It has been largely a converting operation, replacing short-term by long-term obligations. Interest charges have been increased by 177,000,000 francs, which is regarded as a slight cost for the greater stability. The short-term bonds totaled 49,000,000,000 francs a year ago, while they now stand at 38,000,000,000. All national issues gained from 6 to 8 points during the period.

Considerable discussion has been going on among financial writers as to whether depression is likely to occur in the near future, owing chiefly to the increased cost of living. The weight of opinion has been heavily in the negative.

The rise of the franc, which has been getting too strong in the view of the government, was checked by action of the French treasury in borrowing one billion francs from the Bank of France as announced in the bank's report Thursday.

CANDLER ADDRESSES OFFICERS OF LEGION

Macon, Ga., October 9.—(AP)—Stressing the necessity of picking definite objective work in service to the various communities in which legion posts are located, the annual state conference of commanders and adjutants of the American Legion adjourned here late this afternoon.

The meeting was characterized by Asa Warren Candler, of Atlanta, state commander, "as one of the most successful and best conferences" ever held by the legion heads. More than 100 commanders and adjutants of legion posts attended the conference.

The members of the American Legion in Georgia, through the commanders and adjutants, promptly accepted a challenge for a membership contest with members of Florida posts. The contest is to be based on the gain of membership in each state for the year 1928, and the contest will end December 31.

Georgia posts have already enrolled over 800 members, it was brought out at the meeting. The Joseph N. Neel, Jr., post, located in Macon, was noted by the conference as having turned in 250 of this number.

The importance of the post home was discussed during the afternoon session by Usher T. Winslet, a member of the Joseph N. Neel post. Winslet gave the commanders and adjutants a brief outline of how the local post went about securing its home.

"Any organization, to gain the respect of the community," he said, "must have some kind of a home where its members can be at home at any time. If there is no justification for an organization there is little use for the organization in the life of the community."

GREAT CHICAGO FIRE SURVIVORS HOLD CONVENTION

Chicago, October 9.—(United News.)—A fast dwindling group of survivors of the great Chicago fire gathered Sunday to observe the 36th anniversary of the fatal disaster of Mrs. O'Leary's cow which started the conflagration.

The fire on October 9, 1871, is popularly supposed to have been started by a kerosene lantern which was kicked into a pile of hay by the cow. The fire destroyed a large section of the city. Damage was fixed at $200,000,000.

Insurance companies and safety officials have chosen the date of the Chicago fire anniversary to inaugurate national fire prevention week.

HOKE SMITH TO SPEAK AT MASONIC MEETING

Former United States Senator Hoke Smith will be the principal speaker at a meeting of Gate City lodge, No. 2 F. & A. M., Tuesday evening in the Masonic temple, according to announcement by the worshipping master of the lodge.

The occasion will be the regular meeting of the lodge, which, it is stated, will be free from Masonic degree work, and will be in the nature of a social with interesting talks and enjoyable music.

Senator Smith will speak on the "Progress of Atlanta and Masonry," sketching the parallel growth of the city and the fraternal order as he has viewed it as a member of the Gate City lodge.

Rev. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and James L. Mayson are on the program. Gate City lodge is one of the oldest Masonic lodges in the city, having been established in 1887. Its membership is more than 1,200 and it is anticipated that there will be a large gathering for the Tuesday meeting. Masons of the city have been invited to the meeting regardless of their lodge connection.

FLORIDA ANGLERS TO ASK COOLIDGE TO FISHING PARTY

Palm Beach, Fla., October 9.—(AP)—President Coolidge will be invited by the Palm Beach Anglers club, an organization of society fishermen, of which the late President Harding was an honorary member, to include a two-day stop in Palm Beach as part of his proposed trip to Cuba early in January.

The announcement made today by officials of the club said that a committee has been appointed to present the president with an engraved gold invitation.

Should Mr. Coolidge accept the invitation a special sail fishing expedition will be arranged.

TRADE RELATIONS MEET IS CALLED

Columbia, S. C., October 9.—Christie Benet, general counsel of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' association, has been notified by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America that the committee on trade relations of which he is a member has been called to meet at West Baden Springs, Ind., October 15-18, in conjunction with the sessions of national councilors, the board of directors and other special committees.

At this meeting the committee will be called upon to express itself on several important matters. One of the most important will be the planning of the future work of the trade relations committee in connection with an effort among various trades and industries to eliminate bad trade practices and to set up in lieu thereof codes of good trade practices, says an announcement of the meeting.

This work has been strongly endorsed by the government, both the federal trade commission and the department of justice having expressed their views strongly in favor of such codes. Methods for arousing interest in groups that have not yet undertaken work of this sort will be discussed at the meeting also.

HOME TRAINING URGED IN INSTITUTE TALKS

Training of children was emphasized Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher's association of the Holmes institute, held in the school auditorium.

Alice D. Carey declared that a larger per cent of colored women must pay more attention to the training of their children in order that they may become constructive citizens.

The Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the institute, said that home training of children who appeared before juvenile court judges had not been in keeping with Christian principles.

DUVALL RESIGNATION PROBABLE THIS WEEK

Indianapolis, Ind., October 9.—(United News.)—New efforts to expel Mayor John L. Duvall and his wife from office in Indianapolis were forecast today, following mysterious week-end conferences between attorneys for Duvall and prosecutors.

The mayor was to have been sentenced Saturday for violation of the state corrupt practices act. A jury fixed the penalty at 30 days in jail, $1,000 fine and loss for four years of the privilege of holding office.

Proceedings at which the mayor will be formally sentenced were continued until Wednesday, however.

So far, Duvall has resisted pressure to force his resignation and soon after his conviction, he appointed Mrs. Duvall city comptroller. Under the law, she would succeed her husband as mayor in case he resigned.

Duvall has insisted he would not relinquish the office or at least until an appeal to the state supreme court had been decided against him.

Embley Johnson, special prosecutor, predicted after a conference, however, that Duvall would resign before sentence was fixed next week. Mrs. Duvall is expected to resign.

Fair Weather Monday Seen For Atlanta

Fair weather is in prospect for Georgia today and Tuesday, according to the report issued late Sunday night from the government bureau at Washington.

While the rains which marked Saturday's football game here and continued throughout the night had cleared away Sunday morning, they broke one of the longest dry spells on record at the local bureau. The precipitation totaled .34 inches.

Temperatures here over Sunday, ranging between 62 and 74 degrees, dropped several points below those of Saturday.

ABRAM G. HUTSELER DIES IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, October 9.—(P)—Abram G. Hutseler, founder of Hutseler Brothers' department store and philanthropist, died today at his summer home, "Pomona," in Pikesville, Md. Mr. Hutseler, who was 92 years of age, was stricken Saturday night with a heart attack.

Although retired from active management of the store for some years, Mr. Hutseler retained the position of chairman of the company's board of directors. He was unmarried.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY KEEP WELL

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Here is Proof

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorber, of 704 Delaware Street, wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results." In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. "I bought the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Lorber continued, "and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask, 'How is housekeeping?' and he says, 'It is just like being in heaven!'"

Princess Helen Devotion
SCHOOL FOR NURSES DEDICATED IN BUCHAREST
Her Life to Aiding Others

Bucharest, October 9.—(P)—The beautiful Princess Helen of Rumania, her faith in humanity shattered and her hope of happiness in marriage blighted by the desertion of former Crown Prince Carol, today decided to dedicate her life to Red Cross nursing and reclamation of fallen girls. With encouragement from officials of the Rockefeller Foundation, she established a school for nurses in Bucharest, which she supervised and she formally dedicated today.

There are already twenty-five students in the school, including one American girl, Princess Helen hopes to enlist the interest of the American Red Cross in the institution since she is possessed only of the most slender means of her own to conduct the school. The princess also inaugurated a home for war-wounded soldiers, girls and dispensary for sick children and mothers.

Garbed in the white uniform of a nurse with the symbolic red cross on her forehead and chest, the "silver princess," as the natives call her, makes a striking figure of beauty and benevolence, her beautiful bobbed blond hair growing in such profusion that it covers even her blue eyes and her lovely deep dimples.

To her intimate friends the heartbroken princess confided that her love for Carol is dead and she has too little faith in mankind to remarry. Her family, however, is eager that she shall wed again in order to divert her mind from her present sorrows.

Although Carol ignores her and never writes her from his haunts in Paris, Princess Helen speaks of the errant prince without the slightest trace of rancor, revenge or reproach. The courageous attitude and womanly dignity and forbearance, which she has shown all through her abandonment, have won the admiration and sympathy of the entire American colony here to which she has become greatly endeared.

Since her desertion by Carol, Princess Helen has lived alone with little King Michael and his pet dog in a cottage in the Carpathian mountains. Like a loitered novice in a convent, she spends her days in meditation and prayer, surrounded by books, flowers, trees and birds. In its simplicity and plainness, her humble wooden abode on the summit of a pine-clad mountain, overlooking the village of Sinalia, might be likened to the hut of any American trapper or woodsman in the Adirondacks or Appalachian mountains.

Princess Helen is so intensely modest and retiring her friends say she would prefer the infinite peace, repose and seclusion in this American-like bungalow to a sovereignty of gold and crown and queenhood over 16,000,000 people, which would have been her lot if Carol had not forsaken her.

AVIATION CONFERENCE
CALLED FOR DEC. 5

Washington, October 9.—(P)—Leaders in the rapidly expanding field of aeronautics have been summoned to Washington for a five-day conference during December with the heads of the government establishments seeking to aid their enterprises.

William P. McCracke, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce for aviation, in announcing today the fixing of December 5 as the date for the first of the meetings, pointed out that it is now practically a full year since the federal government undertook seriously to aid the establishment of commercial aviation, and that it is time to survey accomplishment, and obtain advice of all operators in the industry for the shaping of future effort.

There will be five main topics for discussion at the conference, relating to air commerce regulations; aviation schools; airports, their rating, regulation, administration and safeguarding; departmental services, by bulletin, multiphase lighting, and weather reporting; testing of aircraft, motors and accessories and general matters.

SOUTHERN G. O. P. IS PLANNING BAR ON INSTRUCTIONS

Washington, October 9.—(United News.)—Southern republicans are agreed that untrusted delegates should be sent to the next republican convention, George W. Bean, republican national committeeman from Florida, said tonight.

"Any candidate acting through some agent who attempts to control southern delegates and deliver the vote will do himself more harm than good," Bean said. Various newspaper statements have appeared to the effect that Bassom Sloop is to lead the southern delegates to the next convention. Mr. Sloop is too old in the political game to attempt anything of the kind, he said, and it is to fail. "Personally, I resent the implication that the southern delegates can be delivered by anyone."

Respected Negro Of Atlanta Dies At Age of 87 Years

Thomas Goosby, 87, one of the city's oldest and best-known colored citizens, died Sunday at his home, 195 Auburn avenue.

Born October 10, 1840, in Oglethorpe county, he came to Atlanta while a young man. For more than 60 years Goosby lived here, where his industrious and cheerful disposition won a high place in the confidence and respect of both races.

In addition to his widow, Goosby is survived by a son, W. H. Goosby, of Chicago, and a daughter, Annie Massey, a talented soloist and city school teacher.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday from the Liberty Baptist church, the hour to be announced later.

READ AND STUDY BIBLE, MESSAGE OF STINSON

"No matter how much we own or control, if God is left out of our every day life and the best sense of righteousness does not prevail, life is a failure," declared the Rev. R. D. Stinson, of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial institute Sunday night in a sermon in the Turner chapel, at North avenue and Julian streets.

He urged his congregation to read and study the Bible and declared that the examples taught by parents have come by the way of prayer.

YACHT IS LOOTED AND BIRMINGHAM MAN LOSES GEMS

Norfolk, Va., October 9.—(P)—Jewelry valued at $1,700 and $800 in cash was stolen from aboard the yacht Jolly Rover, owned by Richard W. Massey, Birmingham, Ala., captain, while the craft lay at anchor in the harbor here last night.

Massey's wife, Captain R. W. Upton and Steward W. H. Sloane were aboard, but did not discover their loss until they awoke this morning. Most of the jewelry was contained in a jewel case upon the dresser in the owner's stateroom.

The jewel case was carried off but a purse belonging to Massey from which $800 in currency was taken, was left as if it had been rifled and tossed aside. A valuable watch owned by Captain Massey also was taken, as were a few other articles of less value, owned by the skipper and steward.

The Jolly Rover, which arrived here last night from Fort Edward, N. Y., was en route to Jacksonville. The owner and his wife left today for Richmond. Police closed the robbery as one of the most daring on record here. No clues were left by the thief or thieves.

ACCIDENT VICTIM BELIEVED DYING

While David E. Roper, of 1070 Wylie street, is thought to be dying at Grady hospital of a fractured skull, funeral arrangements for his wife, fatally injured Saturday afternoon in the same traffic accident, had not been completed at a late hour Sunday night.

Mrs. Roper died shortly after she, her husband and their daughter, Mrs. Lewis M. Teems, were struck down when a truck rebounded from a collision and rolled onto the sidewalk near the corner of Wylie and Wall-hall streets.

Mrs. Teems, also of the Wylie street address, was treated for severe lacerations about the head and allowed to return to her home.

Mrs. Roper, in addition to her husband and daughter, is survived by three sons, Farland G. Roper and Marcus R. Roper, both of Kingsville, Texas, and Otis Roper, of Atlanta, and another daughter, Mrs. J. C. Roe, of Alpharetta, Ga.

The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Sam R. Greenberg and company.

Drivers of both trucks are being held by police on charges of reckless driving. They are Frank Rainey, negro, of 645 Smith street, whose coal truck backed across the pavement, and C. C. Mathis, of 1112 DeKalb avenue.

KLAN SEEKING GREATER POWER FOR ITS RADIO

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Washington, October 9.—Application for authority to increase the power of the 70-kilowatt broadcasting station, WTLF, located in near-by Virginia, from 50 watts to 50,000 watts, and make that station one of the most powerful in the United States, has been filed with the federal radio commission by James S. Vance, publisher of the Fellowship Forum, a Ku Klux Klan organ.

In his petition, Vance asserts his willingness to retain the present frequency of 1,470 kilocycles, which is assigned to WTLF, and undertake the experiment of using the unusually high power on a low wave. The experiment, he declared, would render a distinct service to radio men in that it will be pioneering with high power.

If the requested authority is granted WTLF will join the class of the three most powerful stations in the country—WGTX at Schenectady, N.Y., at Pittsburgh and WEAF at New York, L. I., each of which is 50,000 watts.

It is anticipated that if the Vance petition is granted, 18 or more stations which are likely to be affected by the change will protest on the ground that their broadcasts will be "drowned out" if WTLF's 50,000 watts on the particularly low wave of 1,470 kilocycles.

DEATH MASKS CAUSE SACCO RIOT IN PARIS

Paris, October 9.—(United News.) Except for a minor clash with police which sent one police official to the hospital, anarchist and communist manifestations in honor of Sacco and Vanzetti in Paris suburbs today were peaceful.

Eleven hundred anarchists filed past the death masks of the radicals who were executed in Massachusetts, while 3,000 communists, insisting on a separate demonstration, lowered red flags as they viewed the masks.

The old bus!

THE paint may be scraped off here and there and probably the mudguards bear the dents of careless parking or even more careless fellow parkers.

The engine may miss now and then and shifting gears may not be the smooth easy matter it once was, but the old bus is still a good old friend.

It has served you well. Down to the office; quick, pleasant shopping trips; cool, refreshing evening drives through the country; week-end journeys to see the folks back home, wonderful vacations—all this and more the old bus has given you.

You know all this of course, but did you ever stop to think how much the oft-discussed business of advertising has had to do with the fun you've had out of the old bus?

Didn't advertising tell you of many things that made your car run easier and more economically? Didn't advertising help you plan your pleasure trips?

And when you are through with the old bus, won't advertising help you dispose of it advantageously and enable you to select the new one more intelligently?

And that's just the motor-car department of life.

Advertising means quite a lot to you, doesn't it? Life would be full of detours without it.

Read the advertisements regularly and follow the straight road to satisfaction and economy

Your Kidneys

Are The Sentinels of Your Health Don't Neglect Them!

LATE hours, rich foods and stimulating drinks are all hard on our kidneys. If their action becomes sluggish, they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes.

Such impurities are apt to make one dull, tired and aching, with often a nagging headache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common sign that the kidneys are not acting right is scanty or burning excretions.

Thousands have learned the virtue of Doan's Pills stimulant diuretic in these conditions. 50,000 users have publicly recommended Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

THE GUMPS—ACCORDING TO BLACKSTONE

They Wouldn't Believe

By ROY VICKERS.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Brierly's house at Rubington for luncheon, Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend Olive Weston that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Handie and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandie. Querk suggests to Sandie that he invite Brierly to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wade, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and going to investigate she sees Sandie and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes as her father. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and calling him the three proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret door in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene, and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandie to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi, which the police officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office, where old man Wade and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they walk into the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle, Jr. Querk later pretends that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Sandie is about to bring criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private institution which he recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Harrowby house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald and pleads with him to hide until the real murderers are uncovered.

INSTALLMENT XLIX.

A BOLD LIE.

Rason stared at Olive with something approaching indignation.

"It's step No. 3 that does it," pressed Olive. "Someone has been telling you that the public thinks the police are fools—and your simple, unassuming modesty has done the rest. Don't you see that Brierly must have known you were bound to find the body?"

Olive was too elated to be suspicious of the detective's answer.

"One to you, Miss Weston!" he said in the tone of a man good-humoredly acknowledging defeat. "It's plain as a pikestaff as you put it. As you say, I was a bit muddled. But I'm still wondering how you found the exact spot so quickly."

"Ah, that's more difficult," said Olive judicially. "We'll have to go back to that interesting little rhapsody on the methods of New Scotland Yard. I'll tell you something about this elaborate scheme of parking cars that you didn't tell me, shall I?"

"Please," said Rason humbly.

"When your department asks all these formidable questions—weeks—months—years—she imitated his voice—"it often wastes a tremendous amount of time by marking down a man or woman as a liar when really they've told the truth—only you could not believe it because it sounded so improbable."

"That may be," said Rason. "But I told you we always assumed people were telling the truth."

"Well, you'd have to do an awful lot of assuming this time," she warned. "Better get busy and assume for all you're worth that I'm going to you the truth."

"Go ahead," said Rason.

Olive knew then that only a bold lie could save her. Rason was ready to believe that Donald was guilty. Rason was also ready to believe that she was Donald's fifted lover. The two must be combined.

"I've been to that lane before, on the pillar of Brierly's bicycle."

"Oh, yes!" said Rason, interested.

"Did you know he came to see me this morning? Well, he did. He's been here three times since she was taken away."

She could feel Rason's eyes upon her and knew that he was thinking that she was madly jealous of her friend—which was just what he was intended to think.

"And then it happened," said Olive abruptly.

"What happened?" said Olive.

"Woman's instinct," said Olive. "It happened with a click. . . . Woman's instinct," she repeated. "You've heard of it, haven't you? It explains all sort of things, you know."

"I don't follow."

"Wait. When he came in, although he said nothing, he had about him the air of a man who is taking a last farewell. That's why the woman's instinct came in. I knew it. He—likes me a bit, you know, in spite of everything."

Rason nodded sympathetically.

"I knew then that he was going away, although he pretended that he wasn't. He talked a bit about his going to Maenton house. I knew I would never see him after that. I was thinking of that day when I rode on his pillion—and I felt that he was thinking of it, too. It was linked up in his mind with the fact that he was really saying goodbye to me and pretending he wasn't. I don't know what it's called—t-night waves or telepathy or something—but I got those two impressions absolutely linked together."

She paused, uncertain whether she were carrying him with her.

"Of course, that kind of mood doesn't last," she hurried on. "When he left I put it out of my mind and thought he probably was not going away and I had simply been imaginative. At the Record this evening when that message came through and I was put on the case, I knew, with absolute conviction, that that was what he was going to do. So I

"A population of 500,000 by 1930" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

Couch Pleased With Trade, Welcomes New Plants Here

"We are having the best year since 1913," says Fred M. Couch, president of the Atlanta Tent and Awning company, of East Point. "Our awning business this year was splendid, not only in the Atlanta section, but in various other cities and territories," he continued.

"Our tent business, which is always good was extra good this year, and we have been sending large and small tents to all parts of the country. Our horse backband business, for which we have been famous for nearly a third of a century, is now in full swing and we are selling great quantities to county merchants all over the south."

"In years past," continued Mr. Couch, "we had a dull period in November, December and January, due to few awnings or tents being ordered during these months. To overcome weather strips without any damage to any fine woodwork, and without musing up a room.

"The great advantage of putting weather strips on a new or old building, is that they save their cost in two years' time in the reduction of fuel and cleaning bills. For not only do they keep out cold and rain in the winter time, but they keep out the rain and dust all the year around. In almost every home on building there is a large crack under the door that lets in the cold winds. Our Numetal door bottom strips are the most economical and effective weather strips that can be put on a door bottom and they will safeguard the health of the whole family."

"As we know we have a good thing in these Numetal weather strips, this being our third year installing them, we want to pass it along to our customers and new friends, assuring them that the same fair and square dealings that they have had with the Atlanta Tent & Awning company all these years is their guarantee in our weather metal strip business, and we invite personal correspondence or phone calls to 1488 S. E. 4th St. at those that wish to know how reasonable we do this kind of work."

"We wish at this time," concluded President Couch "to extend our congratulations to Atlanta and East Point upon the locating here of the new Chevrolet plant and the Oak Knitting company of Syracuse, N. Y. Both of these big plants will add much to Atlanta and the south. We of the south side are especially pleased, as this Oak Knitting company will be right across from us in the Lull-

Yancy Brothers Had Great Educational Exhibit at Fair

The exhibit of Yancy Brothers, Inc., well known heavy machinery dealers of 634 Whitehall street, at the Southeastern fair this year, was one of the largest and most complete road and contractors' exhibit seen in an exhibit in this section in several years.

It took a large tent big enough to house a small circus to cover the many heavy pieces of ponderous machinery on display and the exhibit was so arranged that the visitors could very quickly inspect each piece, and many of them weighed several tons.

In order to get the fullest educational value of this big display, George Yancy, president of this firm, had installed a moving picture of what these big caterpillar tractors and heavy road machinery had done elsewhere.

Starting in a new field, in a very rough hill section, the old caterpillar "caterpillar" was pulled the grade. Good sized trees, big rocks that stood in its path were torn up or pushed aside, all showing that these ponderous machines will do more work under any and all circumstances in a day than scores of men can do.

Mr. Yancy was highly pleased with interest manifested all week by

Great Improvements Made in Renovating Of Old Mattresses

"We are living in a great age of progress," states R. Simon, president of the Superior Mattress company, of Bankhead avenue.

"We look around on all sides and see wonderful improvements made upon new and old articles that were supposed to be the very best in their lines a few years ago.

"Take our own line of making and renovating mattresses. The improved methods we now use, over those of six or seven years ago, is a revelation to all who have used our work."

"We can truly say to anyone that calls us at Hemlock 9274 that we care not how old, soiled or lumpy an old mattress may be, after our men and women work on it a few hours, we can send it back so well done that you will not know the difference from a new mattress. This is the procedure we take in making their old mattress like new again. After it arrives in shop and the old ticking is removed and the cotton is run through a cotton gin that makes the cotton new and "live" again, then the dust is blown out of it and now that the cotton or other filling is made soft and "downy" again, a new ticking made especially to measure is put on."

"Every customer of ours is assured their own filling is put back in the mattress sent them, and it is put in the most sanitary manner possible. And when it comes to covering, our salesmen, when he calls, offers the customers their choice of selections of new and modern mattress coverings and along this line we carry every new and fancy pattern, as well as the old standard tickings.

"Then there is the matter of service. Probably in no line does this play so important a part as in the renovating of mattresses. A woman having an unexpected guest, or a boarding house, or hotel-keeper needing more comfortable mattresses quickly, can phone us at 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning and we will call for the old mattresses and return them in time to be slept on that night."

"We have come to the conclusion," concluded Mr. Simon, "if more people will get their old mattresses renovated instead of throwing them away, we can save them more than half of what a new one will cost and we want all the good people of Atlanta and vicinity to know that we are here to serve them."

REV. ERICKSON OPENS TABERNACLE REVIVAL

Pleading to the unsaved Sunday morning in one of the most forceful sermons he has delivered, the Rev. R. L. Erickson, noted evangelist who is leading a revival at the Gospel tabernacle in Capitol avenue, urged them to "cross over from the things of the world and share in the rich blessings of God."

"There is a certain step in your life you have got to take before God will do much for you," he declared. "You will have to cross over from the things that have held you. So many people are crying and whining and complaining that they do not get what they ask from God. Well, cross over, and God will give it to you."

The evangelist spoke three times Sunday to large congregations. Services will continue this week at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock at night. Preceding each evening meeting the revivalist delivers a brief talk.

The program of the revival will broaden Thursday with the arrival of the Rev. Robert D. Kilgour, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church of Minneapolis, Minn. The Minneapolis minister has received a call to serve as pastor of the Gospel tabernacle. He will speak several times during the revival.

Delayed en route from New York Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mobry, revival singers, reached Atlanta late Sunday. They will appear at each service during the remainder of the campaign.

ATLANTA AGAIN SEEKS APPLE WEEK TROPHY

Plans for Atlanta's participation in "National Apple Week" to be observed in all parts of the country from October 31 through November 5, are rapidly nearing completion.

For two successive years Atlanta has won the silver cup awarded annually by the apple week organization to cities of the 200,000 to 300,000 class. W. G. Merrin, chairman of the local committee, said the whole country in proportion to its population.

"We received this distinction for our 'Apple Week' showing, which is going to be better this year than ever before."

"The idea was developed by the International Apple Shippers' association in 1913, and has gained in popularity each year," Mr. Merrin declared.

Local dealers believe that recent legislation passed by the general assembly governing and regulating the packing of apples for shipment will do much to help Georgia take her rightful place among the great apple-producing states of the union.

Orchards of the north and central sections of the state have ready won an enviable reputation for appearance and flavor of their product, dealers assert.

HARRIS C. MACKLIN, FORMER SEABOARD OFFICIAL, IS DEAD

Norfolk, Va., October 9.—(P)—Harris C. Macklin, aged 71, formerly purchasing agent for the Seaboard Air Line railway and for several years manager of a railway springs manufacturing company here, dropped dead while playing golf yesterday at the Norfolk Country Club. He was in the act of making the final putt in an 18-hole foursome when he was stricken. He was a native of McVetown, Pa., and the body will be taken to Altoona, Pa., for burial.

FRANCHISE GIVEN FOR TOLL BRIDGE OVER MISSISSIPPI

Arkansas City, Ark., October 9.—(P)—Linking of the Arkansas and Mississippi shores of the Mississippi river was a step nearer realization today as a result of the granting by Judge T. R. Jacobs, in Desha county, here, of a franchise to E. M. Elliott, of Chicago, and his associates for the construction of a toll bridge across the waterway.

Permission from the war department and Bolivar county, Mississippi, the eastern terminus of the proposed bridge, still is necessary before actual work of construction can begin.

Under the terms of the franchise the bridge would be operated as a toll structure for 20 years after which Desha county would have the right to purchase it at a value to be fixed by a commission. The applicants were given 30 days in which to accept or reject the franchise.

OUR CORNISH SLAB BURNING BOILERS

Have many points of merit which appeal to saw mill operators.

The slab burning space is a heavy fire box steel flue and is entirely surrounded by water with a combustion chamber from which the burning gases return through 2-inch pipes, thus heating the water a second time.

SALES AND ADVERTISING EXECUTIVE Eight years at advertising sales man- ager of a prominent Atlanta manufacturer, a year as sales manager of a large firm and five months selling advertising in Chicago, bringing me into contact with the merchandising side of some of the country's largest advertisers, has given me a broad and rather unusual experience. I am seeking a permanent connection with a growing Atlanta firm that offers a sub- stantial future. Address: A-2, Constitution Building, Room 100.

A SELECT LIST OF EXPERIENCED PEOPLES HAVE REGISTERED IN OUR EMPLOYMENT DEPARTMENT. They are men and women with character, references and good credentials. We only register good ones. It is our interest to call your attention to the employment department and make known to you the many opportunities that are being placed in the hands of the business interests of Atlanta. No charge made to anyone. Write to us for a list of the students who have been placed since Jan- uary 1.
